Workplace Diversity

Our Workplace Diversity training course offers a comprehensive approach to help individuals and organizations understand, respect, and value diversity. This course comprises 12 modules that cover topics such as understanding diversity, breaking down stereotypes and barriers, enhancing verbal and non-verbal communication skills, and being proactive in promoting diversity in the workplace. Participants will learn how to cope with discrimination, deal with diversity complaints as individuals, managers, and organizations, and wrap up by summarizing key concepts. Through this training, participants will gain a deeper appreciation for diversity and learn how to create a more inclusive and welcoming workplace culture. This can lead to increased employee satisfaction, improved teamwork, and enhanced productivity, among other benefits for both individuals and organizations.

About Our Trainer

Dr. Linda L. Singh is a highly decorated retired Major General of the United States Army who shattered barriers and became the first African American and first woman to serve as Adjutant General for the Maryland National Guard. A dynamic and inspiring speaker, Linda draws upon her unique experiences to share powerful lessons in leadership, teamwork, and resilience. She is a sought-after speaker who has addressed audiences at the United Nations, NATO, and the Pentagon, as well as numerous corporations, non-profits, and educational institutions.
